

CENTAUR

Key facts for academic and research staff

CentAUR is one of the larger open access institutional repositories in the UK and it has had over one million downloads. Access is free to anyone worldwide. CentAUR can be searched directly, through repository search tools, or via major search engines. It is indexed by Google Scholar.

ADD YOUR PUBLICATIONS TO CENTAUR

Log in with your University username and password at www.reading.ac.uk/centaur

ACT ON ACCEPTANCE! As soon as peer reviewed or scholarly outputs are accepted for publication, upload them to CentAUR:

- to increase visibility of, and access to, your research outputs (citations, collaboration, impact)
- to populate your ROSS report and publications lists on personal profile and School web pages
- to comply with the University's open access policy
- to fulfil funder mandates (e.g. RCUK) to make your publications open access
- to comply with the HEFCE open access policy for the next REF

OUTPUT TYPE	REFERENCE	FULL TEXT
Journal articles	yes	yes
Book chapters	yes	optional
Books (authored and edited)	yes	no
Reports	yes	optional
Conference proceedings	yes	yes
Patents (published)	yes	no
Arts outputs (e.g. exhibitions)	yes	optional

Table showing content types to add to CentAUR. Some need only a reference and others must include a full text.

BEFORE ADDING OUTPUTS RETROSPECTIVELY contact CentAUR for advice on scope and import options.

CONTACTS AND HELP

- CentAUR: centaur@reading.ac.uk, x6376 or www.centaur.reading.ac.uk/help
- University's open access information pages www.reading.ac.uk/library/open-access